

I am very much concerned that the prospect of opening utility power lines to high frequency broadband communications will cause interferrance to existing residential and commercial radio uses. In addition, there are many power company customers on dyalysis and other life support equipment that could be adversely effected.